INTRODUCTION

Nowadays many people give their attention how to learn foreign languages. Especially, learning English language is the most popular one. Most of the countries try to find different ways how to expand this language among young people. As we know, English in an intercontinental language. Most people can understand each other while speaking in this language. Major countries whose the English is not their mother tongue learn it as a second language. Because of it English is more popular than others. In order to that, people who want enlarge this language in their country learn various methods, how to attract people to acquire skill in it. In this article we will discuss about miscellaneous techniques of developed countries.

LITERATURE ANALYSIS AND METHODOLOGY

There are a lot of methods and techniques the most countries disseminate between people to raise their language skills. Let's look and learn the techniques and methods of South Korea and our country. Both of them are useful in order to their unique ways during the teaching process.

Firstly, furnishing the classrooms is the most significant part of teaching. Why it is crucial? Because the people who come to learn something, will get the first imagination from classrooms. The reason is, they will see the place first and then, they will talk with teachers. The area should be attractive and full with specific information. Even the little thing in the class should teach something to the student. In the following pictures you can see South Korea English classrooms. As you can see, the rooms decorated in various way. The major reason for this action is teachers make their class more explicit and unusual in order to attract pupils. As we mentioned above a little detail in class should teach pupil.

prosper their IT skill. In both countries we can be aware of that, they give a huge attention to pupil's computer knowledge. Smart technologies are improving day by day. It demands to know and understand the language of machines language too.

Secondly, tutor should furnish the class in order to their students' ages. For example, teacher cannot design the class with different tenses formulas or kind of strenuous written things for the children who don't know even how to read it. They should provide the class with different pictures like animals, flowers, birds or ABC letters, painted picture which are understandable for the little learners. Because in this age the pupil will be visual learners. They cannot read anything until they learn the ABC. It demands some times for being able to read, learn and also write them. In order to that teacher should be attentive while designing the class.

For the high level students we can design the class with different handmade presentation or various information about a specific theme. Also teachers can share their students result in the class in order to give motivation for others. One of the most interesting and popular way to attract their students to the subject is a making a free space for their work. Actually, teacher supply the student with different tasks during the lessons like home tasks, play roles, handmade poster presentation and others. If the teacher put them to the free space as an example, it will be the best reward for the students. Because it is their work, they start to believe in themselves and after that students get the good confidence for themselves. As we know adults will demand more attention from everyone. Creating this kind of walls help to the students to focus on their study.

And also feeling comfort is the best way to achieve more. In English classrooms, sitting down on the floor is fascinating and astonishing. Being in a circle and working together will help to students to learn how to work in a team. It makes them more sociable and outgoing. Improving communication skill is much more important when the students growing up.

CONCLUSION

By the way of conclusion, I once again reaffirm my position that, teaching and learning process is the most urgent part of our life. In the article we discussed about two countries, like South Korea and Uzbekistan's ways about how to make a classroom. Furnishing the classes in order to age demands also teach the students in their level. As a good teacher, we should firstly be attentive and try to find out our students level by getting tests. After that teachers should know their students learning styles. Someone is visual learners, someone is kinesthetic learners. It is also important for making a class. Everything should be amazing during the class. Student should not feel bored. Students try their best if the teacher can allure them. It is easy to work with little children. Because you can mesmerize them with games or picture. Generally, you can charm them. But working with adults is the most tough one. You should feel them, you should be like a friend with them. Because a lot of control makes them angry, they need time to be free and assess themselves and they should set a good goals. After that process they will be ready for study. Being a good teacher demands lot of things from you but it makes you happy when you see your students high results.
