Abstract: in this article it is discussed about how to teach young english language learners and how to develop their language skills. This article gives information about using different methods that could be useful while teaching beginners.

Key words: Language Teaching Methodology. Teaching English To Children. Language Teachers. Teaching Challenges

Nowadays English language had already become one of the most used languages around the world. Today more and more children and youngsters wanted to learn this language as a second language. Every language learner know that both learning and teaching new language is not easy. If learners are little than teachers should be more careful while teaching them. It would be great if they could use various methods during the lessons.

How to teach grammar for young learners?

Grammar is a part of language and plays an important role in language use. Learning grammar does not make person only a good language user but also a good listener, speaker, reader and writer. That is why it is vital to teach grammar for kids and children. Grammar has a significant role in language teaching. If learners could not understand grammar, they will struggle while lessons. Unfortunately, grammar is difficult to learn especially for young learners. However, teachers must be more creative and they have to help their students to understand it.

Here are some tips that can make grammar lessons interesting and creative for younger learners:

- First of all, lessons must not be boring, otherwise student will get bored and they will not understand the lesson.
- Teachers could use different games during the lessons to make them interesting for children.
- Teachers can use “Concept checking method” in order to check children’s knowledge.
- Teachers should to try create friendly environment during the classes and it can help them to work harder.

How to make lessons more effective?

It is known that most of the young learners do not want work hard while lessons. It can be hard for them to understand second language. In this cases, teachers should to try make their lessons more effective. Doing lessons effective relates to teacher's knowledge of, course. However, there are a lot of way that can help teachers during the language lessons.

1. Using visual materials

Children loves when they learn something with the help of visual materials. I think using such kind of materials could be very effective for them. Because they can understand and memorise lessons when they see visual materials such as pictures, videos, different slides and interesting presentations.

2. Using music

As we know little children love listening to musing or sing a song. Teachers also can use simple and interesting songs during the lessons. First of all teacher should find one interesting and meaningful song for children then he or she must find text of this song. Then teacher should print the text out for all children. During the lesson children can sing the song and look through its text. After the singing they can learn new word form the song's text. It will be very useful for them and they will new words from passage very quickly.

3. Using games

Having the children play game always funny and interesting way to learn, but teaching them with the help of games is another level. Teachers should use only educational games while teaching young learners. Firstly, teachers should do research, they should search different resources that can help them to find useful games and they should to make a list of optional games. In the lesson teacher can let children to chose one of them. It would be useful because playing games always interesting for children and while playing games they can something new which is related to new language.

4. Establish good relationship with young learners.

Having a good relationship with learners is really important. Most young learners always try to ignore teachers who they do not like and they do not listen them while lessons. When teacher could creat friendly relationship with students they will be close and children try to do fullfil their lessons and language skills.
