

EQUITY IN EDUCATION: MAKING EDUCATION FAIR FOR EVERYONE

Ilyosova Shahnoza Ulas qizi

Supervisor: Rayimaliyeva Yokutkhon

“Student of Uzbekistan state world language university”

Abstract: This article include into the significance of equity in education and explores ways to make education fair for everyone. Today's society, idea of equity in education has gained significant importance. Equity in education goes beyond equality. Also, this give them provide each student with resources, support and some various of opportunities they need to grow academically, regardless of their background or any factor.

Keywords: Equity, education, support, positive, justice, society, challenge, research

In the education, equity stands as a fundamental pillar guiding the quest for fairness and opportunity for all individuals. The pursuit of equity in education is a journey towards creating a system where every student, irrespective of their background, abilities, or circumstances, is provided with the tools and support needed to excel and thrive. In essence, the concept of equity in education underscores the commitment to dismantling barriers, promoting inclusivity, and ensuring that each learner has equal access to resources and opportunities essential for their success. This comprehensive exploration delves into the intricate tapestry of equity in education, unravelling the complexities surrounding the quest for fairness and justice within educational settings. By examining the underlying principles, challenges, and transformative potential of fostering equity in education, this discourse aims to shed light on the significance of making education a realm of equal prospects and untapped potential for every individual. Join us on this enlightening journey as we navigate the landscape of equity in education, striving to make learning a truly equitable and empowering experience for all.

This paper focuses on major challenge facing education systems around the world. So many countries children whi are not able to attend formal education(UNESCO, 2015). In the wealthier countries more and more adolescent population leave school, there is no reason. (OECD, 2012) In World Conference on Special Needs Education hit inclusive education in 1994. There are more than 300 participants, 92 governments and 25 international organizations met in Salamanca. (UNESCO 1994).

We should know about What is Equity in Education? and learn about this. Equity in education means ensuring that all students have the necessary support and opportunities to succeed in school, no matter their background or circumstances. It's about treating everyone equally. It's about understanding each student need chance at doing well.

- Fairness: Equity aims to give every student a fair shot at reaching their full potential. This involves recognizing any challenges or disadvantages that certain groups or individuals might face with them.

- Inclusive Practices: Equity practices that include students from various backgrounds, learning styles, and abilities. It's about building an environment where all students feel supported.

- Support for Underrepresented Groups: Equity focuses on giving extra help to groups that have been faced difficulties to help them. By working towards equity in education, schools and education systems want to create a fair and students can grow and reach their goals. This is essential for society and individuals can make positive idea for their community.

Why is Equity important in education? Equity in education is essential. The reason why every student has a chance to take quality knowledge from teachers. It helps them reach more and more goals and brightly life. On the other hand, they may face with some various of challenges or some negative power from others. By addressing these challenges and ensuring equity in education, we create a more supportive and fair environment. Almost all of students can overcome obstacles and grow personally.

Furthermore, aspects of equity in education is ensuring fairness and justice in the division of educational resources. This includes addressing among students such as modern facilities, educational materials and support. Moreover, equity in education plays crucial role in achievement and closing achievement gaps. By providing support to students who need financial support and also they should make equal opportunities to succeed. This focus on equity benefits individual students but also contributes to improvement quality of education within a community.

Nelson Mandela: "Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world." Mandela emphasized the transformative power of education in bringing about positive change and the necessity of making it accessible to all, regardless of their background.

Also, Malala Yousafzai: "Education is education. We should learn everything and then choose which path to follow." Malala, an advocate for girls' education, stresses the universal right to quality education as a means to empower individuals to make choices about their future. Furthermore, she said that "Education is one of the blessings of life—and one of its necessities. That has been my experience during the 17 years of my life. In my paradise home, Swat, I always loved learning and discovering new things. I remember when my friends and I would decorate our hands with henna on special occasions. And instead of drawing flowers and patterns we would paint our hands with mathematical formulas and equations.” she definitely try to change education. Everyone has the same right to education. She explained that many things can be achieved through education and introduced his methods to the public.

Michelle Obama: "No country can ever truly flourish if it stifles the potential of its women and deprives itself of the contributions of 50% of its citizens." Michelle Obama highlights the importance of equity in education, especially for girls and women, as a crucial factor in a nation's progress and success.

Kofi Annan: "Education is a human right with immense power to transform. On its foundation rest the cornerstones of freedom, democracy, and sustainable human development."

The former Secretary-General of the United Nations underscores the fundamental role of education in fostering social progress, democracy, and sustainable development.

It is obvious that Equity is so important for society. If community try to avoid some various of challenges and obstacles, they may reach equity, peace and also so many achievements. This condition help them. This condition effected to students and also school pupils behavior. They better try to make their goals than past.

In conclusion, Educations to promote equity in education should be comprehensive. Also, involve so many collaboration between educators, communities and students themselves. While this progress involve hard work, support, they grow together with society. By championing equity in education, we can build a more just and prosperous future for all.

References:

1. <https://blog.edupassport.io/2023/06/global-efforts-to-ensure-equity-in-education/>
2. <https://www.linkedin.com/pulse/pasi-sahlberg-discusses-equity-education-lead-up-national>
3. <https://kecher.org/blog/article/4/understanding-education-the-kofi-annan-way-freedom-democracy-and-sustainable-human-development->
4. <https://www.edweek.org/leadership/first-lady-to-tap-u-s-students-in-education-equity-campaign-for-girls/2015/08>
5. <https://indianexpress.com/article/lifestyle/life-positive/malala-yousafzai-speech-7085471/>
6. <https://www.englishspeecheschannel.com/english-speeches/malala-yousafzai-un-2013-speech/>
7. Thalia González, “Socializing Schools: Addressing Racial Disparities in Discipline through Restorative Justice,” in Losen, Closing the Discipline Gap.
8. Jason A. Okonofua and Jennifer L. Eberhardt, “Two Strikes: Race and the Disciplining of Young Students,” Psychological Science.