INTRODUCTION

Our country is very interested in learning foreign languages. As a real our phonetics can adapt to all foreign languages that is why other pronunciations of other languages does not cause us difficulties. Let's talk about the language that is much studied and in high demand in our country. As you can guess, we will talk about English so we know that there are many English learners in our country and the percentage is very high and I think this is a good result, too. In addition, there are many difficulties in learning English, which requires good skills in grammar, correctly spelling, and learning words and of course the ability to pronounce words in English.

In this topic, we will focus on pronunciation, because pronunciation is one of the most pressing problems in our society. That's why we will try to solve these problems.

METHODS

It is a fact that there are many different ways to learning language and also many ways to improve pronunciation. To me it should be considered one of the big problems of how to make the pronunciation fluent. Let me tell you a few examples based on the experience and support of many people.

- Listening to own voice from Dictaphone.
- Working hard with transcripts.
- Imitating someone whose pronunciation well to repeat.
- Watching English movies with subtitle and try to speak same way.
- Singing loudly.
- Speaking slowly, you should listen carefully yourself.
- Finding a friend whose language is native English.
- Reading many books loudly.

RESULT

I would like to share my opinion based on the above experiences.

Listening to own voice from Dictaphone It is clear that these experiences can help, especially listening to own voice. Correcting pronunciation by listening to own voice is one of the easiest ways in my opinion. It's good to record your own voice because you can hear your mistake and try not to repeat it next time.

Working hard with transcripts

Working with the transcript will benefit the ability to read and write, and in addition, it will help to understand how to read correctly.

Watching English movies with subtitle and try to speak same way Another idea is that watching movies and series with subtitles it can help to increases the speed, and the eyes move quickly and you will try to pronounce faster.

Singing loudly

It is also useful if you learn to with a song that you understand and can repeat, that is, the words are easier to pronounce. And then, you should turn up the song and start singing the spoon together loudly, as a result, your voice become loud and clear begins to grow. It is necessary to turn this training into a daily activity, not just once; only then the result will be good. Speaking slowly, you should listen carefully yourself. In this case, you have to prepare on a certain topic and start speaking in front of a mirror or in an empty room. Even if you take your time, the ability to think will also help improve pronunciation, that is, you will practice speaking, and at the same time, your language itself will be corrected during repetition.

Finding a friend whose language is native English. And besides, the easiest and fastest way to improve pronunciation is to find an English friend somewhere on the Internet or training courses. You will get-together with this human. In this way, you can pick up pronunciation and communication, that is, your friend will teach you how to speak like a real Englishman and how to pronounce it. At the same time, it is more useful to talk to a friend who speaks English because you will try to communicate with him. As a result are you have a good command of this conversation.

Reading many books loudly I would like to add to the above points that reading a book is also useful, it is true that you can make many mistakes and challenging while reading a book, but it can be corrected. For example, while reading you should use a marker or a sticker and write the word you can't pronounce. And you should look for how to pronounce this word then you write the correct pronunciation next to it, and in this way you correct your mistake and learn a new word. You will be reminded every time when you open the book. There are 2 ways to improve: recall and thought. Nevertheless, what I like the most among these experiences is imitation. To my knowledge, imitating someone who is native speaker, it is more effective because of that you can learn more true way improving your skill. While listening speaker's speech you can analyze, understand, your problem. And at that time you will try to correcting speaking tone and other wrong ideas. Moreover, during learning you could cost- effective where you did mistake. To imitating someone you should choose who have fluent pronunciation. We mainly focusing on imitating are beneficial or not.

Last but definitely not list at my own pace what I mean by these thoughts is that when learning English, one of the main things a learner should pay attention to pronunciation, because if you can't speak clearly and fluently during learning, there's no point in learning because the listener and the people around you can't understand what you're saying, and this knowledge will not do you any good. What I want to say with this opinion is that you will not be able to fulfill your demands and wishes because you cannot teach anyone anything with a bad pronunciation because the learner will not understand you. Therefore, you need to focus on pronunciation.
