To date, service activities are becoming more efficient economically than production, as the circulation of financial funds in service enterprises is faster, and low investment is required to start the main initial activities.

The services sector plays an important role in the social economic activities of the regions. Residents of the area purchase and consume most of the services in their area of permanent residence. Therefore, the active policy of the local government organla ri in this direction is important. Today, the formation of a management system that allows the effective development of the services sector in the regions is one of the pressing issues.

Maksyutov B.C. [8] in his work, he studied the directions of effective use of economic resources in the field of household services, increase social economic efficiency in the field, increase the quality of domestic services provided to them in accordance with the requirements of talented cattle workers, and achieve labor efficiency.

Erofeeva Compiled A.P. [4] in his work, the processes of improving the processes of provision of business mat in enterprises, ensuring the competitive advantage of the subjects of the service sector, the relationship of the quality of services in enterprises with their consumer specialty, criteria and indicators for assessing the quality of services, the improvement of the processes of providing services by intensive factors in Aso and the modernization of

Based on the cited research, the essence and content of the concept of Mai Shih service in this implemented research is of particular scientific importance: Muni, its specifics, the role of the market of household products in the services market, methods and means of maintaining household services in the population, stages of determining social norms in the field of household services, the changes taking place in the social and economic life of society are motivating the rapid development of the services sector. At the same time, the current situation indicates that the level of development of the services sector in mam lakat is significantly lagging behind the foreign countries in quantitative and qualitative aspects, and indicates the need to develop the services sector on the basis of international standards in terms of quality and safety.

The reforms carried out in the Republic of Uzbekistan and the fundamental

Today, the needs of the population for types of services and their quality are increasing to kundankun. At the same time, the demand of the population of the region for the quality of the services and types of services provided has also increased, and the role and current activities of local governing bodies in this regard have not satisfied them. At today's stage of economic development, the activities of territorial management bodies do not have a significant connection with the effective functioning of production and service enterprises operating in the territory. Regional and local government bodies should provide a high level of satisfaction of the needs of the population for types of social services, pay special attention to improving the standard and quality of life, and the territorial economy or local budget should be considered as a necessary means of realizing various social interests.

Speaking about household services, first of all, we should pay special attention to their importance in domestic life, as long as the service concerns everyday marriage.

In general, we should pay special attention to the fact that the service has a certain consumer value, reflects the necessary effect and is a certain part of consumer elegance [3]. Services are considered a product of the development and deepening of the social division of Labor and are a new commodity or product that is exchanged as a result of the labor activity of various categories of residents. One such form of Labor Relations turnover is household services.

There are also many definitions of the concept of " domestic service". The debate that goes into this debate still applies to all aspects of the domestic services industry today, assuming a more perfect foundation of this concept, Shin.

M.T.Roze and M.B.Rossinsky includes in household services "services that, to one degree or another, make it possible to reduce or reduce domestic labor." In this author's interpretation, the main focus is on reviving the nature of consumption by replacing services in living conditions or by simplifying them to a certain extent, as well as services aimed at creating additional conditions for consumption that have gone unnoticed [2].

The analysis shows that in the definitions of the author's interpretation of the above, the concept of "domestic service" appears to complicate its characteristics in common with service dream tea, or aspects that are very relevant in social economic relations today, leaving out its existing characteristics, for example, Mai Shi it is clear that services are aimed not at exactly one physical city s, but atV."Domestic service" quoted by bindichenko – this is the professional activity of people in the sphere of social reproduction in their vital activities, the effect of domestic relations in a narrow range from the point of view of beneficitation, or a type of activity aimed at meeting the domestic needs of the population," the definition is full-fledged, taking into account the main aspects of household services [1].

Of course, we propose its simplified definition, since such a definition is complex enough and difficult to apply. The sphere of provision of household services is a multifunctional sphere in the structure of the national economy of the country, economic entities that carry out the creation and provision of household services of a productive and non – productive nature, aimed at organizing the rational exploitation of individuals and legal entities from their free time on the basis of satisfying individual social and material needs.
